

Agritourism Twilight Q&A: List of Additional COVID-19 Resources

Megan Bruch Leffew, Marketing Specialist, Center for Profitable Agriculture

Mark Morgan, Professor, Department of Food Science

Amy Ladd, Co-owner, Lucky Ladd Farms

Kacey Troup, Tennessee Department of Agriculture

Foreword

A webinar titled Agritourism Twilight Q&A: Operating During the COVID-19 Pandemic was held on August 6, 2020 in response to a large number of questions received by the Center for Profitable Agriculture and Tennessee Department of Agriculture staff on the subject. Topics discussed included the current market situation, developing your plan, liability considerations, cleaning and sanitation, communicating with customers, and resources from the State of Tennessee. Amy Ladd from Lucky Ladd Farms also shared her experiences from operating through the summer and plans for fall. A total of 60 people registered for the session with 28 devices logging in the live webinar (in some cases, multiple people were participating from one device). The recording of the webinar and slides are available online. This fact provides links to additional resources.

The webinar was hosted by UT Extension and the Tennessee Department of Agriculture. The session is made possible, in part, through a Southern Risk Management Education Grant supported by USDA/NIFA under Award Number 2018-70027-28585.
